Datacare Software Group (Ireland)

The company, its products, its customers, its environment

Datacare Software Group Ltd, with head offices in Monaghan, develop corporate legal records management software solutions for major corporations, law and accountancy firms around the world.

The software aids in the collection and management of corporate records pertaining to directors, officers, shareholders, subsidiaries, and insiders, as well as corporate governance, compliance and regulatory matters. Including the production and distribution of legal documents and information to related parties

With offices in the UK, Canada and the US, Datacare supply and support over 700 multinational blue-chip clients.

Quality systems and policy

Datacare Software Group have a Quality System in place which is based on the principles of the ISO Standards model. The Quality System is a product of process improvement projects undertaken by Datacare since 1995. The System is a complete framework for all development activities in the company and ensures control at all stages of the software process. As Datacare expands and new technologies have come on board, the Quality System has evolved to meet the requirement of changing technology and practices. Quality is something that is part and parcel of the mind-set at Datacare and is an essential ingredient in the delivery products to their global client base.
